Homecoming Queen, King To Be Chosen

Voting Set Next Week

Balloting for a Homecoming king as well as the traditional queen, will take place Wednesday and Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Student Union, John Faulkner, president of Suky has announced. This will be the first time in the history of the school that UK has had a Homecoming king.

A new voting system for the contest has also been inaugurated by the pep club. Each organization will submit an 8" by 10" portrait of their candidate, but only the coeds will be eligible to vote for the king; while the men students will select the queen. The winners will be crowned at the Tennessee-Kentucky football game.

Contestants Listed
At this date 17 organizations have submitted the names of their contestants. The candidates for queen are: Sally Maggard, Kappa Delta; Virginia Jennings, Alpha Delta Pi; Kay Kline, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jackie Cotton, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carmen Pique, Chi Omega; Chickie Schrider, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Pat Wheatley, Alpha Xi Delta; Doty Pfeiffer, Tri Delta; Nancy Campbell, Delta Zeta; Delores Kercher, Jewell Hall; and Joanne Shelton, Boyd Hall.

King candidates include Hugh Roe, Pi Kappa Alpha; Larry Depp, Kappa Sigma; John Griggs, Sigma Chi; Willie Rouse, Kappa Alpha; Jim Buell, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Sonny Burton, Delta Tau Delta; and Herman Weber, Phi Kappa Tau.

Neil Asher is chairman of the Homecoming activities. Other committee chairmen include Beth Gallivan, trophies; Linda Gibson, judges; Debbie Schwarz, pep rally and publicity; and Buddy Roberts, election.

Card Section Discussed
The Suky Circle also discussed plans for continuing the card section at their Monday meeting. Last week SGA, who controls the seating arrangements in Stoll Field, threatened to disband the card section unless police action was taken to prevent the students from throwing cards. It was decided by Suky that each organization would have a section on the bleachers, with the first two rows assigned to independents. A total of 13 groups have signed petitions to the effect that their members will be fined if they throw a card or behave in a disorderly manner. Any student sitting in the card section will be subject to a penalty for misbehavior, whether or not his organization has signed the petition, they agreed.

The Circle also voted to appropriate money so that the cheerleaders can become members of the National Cheerleading Society.

Judging Of Rooms To Start Sunday

The room judging contest sponsored by the House Presidents' Council will start at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Janice Morris, publicity chairman, announced this week.

Trophies will be given for the first and second sorority house, and a silver bowl will be awarded to the best residence house. Ribbons will be given for the best two sorority and dorm rooms.

Rooms will be judged on attractiveness, general appearance, neatness, and the way they utilize space and available material. Color combinations and accessories such as bedspreads and drapes will also be considered, Janice said.

Judges will include Misses Ruth Guenther and Helen Wilmore, assistant professors of home economics, and Miss Ann Green, instructor of art. Three others will also be chosen.

Betty Hamilton, Hamilton Hall, is chairman of the contest. Other members of the council working on it include Dianna Roddick, Kappa Alpha Theta, trophies; Carmen Pique, Chi Omega, judges; and Janice Morris, Alpha Xi Delta, publicity.

The awards will be presented to the winners at the "Stars In The Night" program.

Schedules Listed For Grad Exams

The graduate reading examinations in foreign languages will be held on the following dates: Dec. 14 (French), Dec. 15 (German), Dec. 16 (Spanish), Dean Herman Spicer announced.

Students planning to take one of the examinations are advised to arrange with the Department of Modern Foreign Languages for the selection of an appropriate book.

Deadline Named For Kyian Prizes

Saturday noon is the deadline for returning prizes for the Kentuckian to the Journalism Building, Jim Perry, editor, announced this week.

"If they don't get them in by then, they will have to take them down to Wolf Wiles," Perry said. "The Kyian has to have them now so they can get all the senior and fraternity pictures mounted before Christmas."

Seniors Interested In Obtaining Jobs To Be Interviewed

All UK seniors who want to meet prospective employers for interviews should file their applications and records with the University Placement Service, Mrs. D. C. Kemper, secretary, announced this week.

"We want to keep files of seniors who want jobs when they graduate to use in arranging interviews with company representatives when they come to Lexington," she said.

The Placement Service in Room 107 of the Administration Building, offers this service to all interested seniors and graduate students free of charge, Mrs. Kemper said.

The bureau also extends help to Kentucky alumni when better paying or advanced standing jobs requiring experienced personnel become available.

The records will be kept permanently and will include items such as academic training, experience, military service, activities, and job preferences. A current list is maintained of alumni already placed, and whenever an employer wants experienced personnel, UK graduates in the desired line are notified of the opportunity.

Mrs. Kemper added that "We urge all seniors to come into the office and register, and when interviewers come to the University, we will notify them."

WUS Fund Drive On Campus Falls Short Of Goal

Solicitations for the World University Service drive as of last Tuesday total $120.76, much less than the dollar-a-student goal set by the committee, Curtis Songster, publicity chairman, announced.

The drive on campus is scheduled to end tomorrow, and a booth will be provided in the Student Union today for students who have not already contributed.

Solicitors appeared at campus organization meetings and sorority and fraternity houses. One fraternity, Phi Kappa Tau, contributed $45.

The International Dinner scheduled for Monday night was cancelled because insufficient ticket sales did not warrant its expense, Songster said.

WUS, an organization supported by students for needy students all over the world, has been known until this year as WSSF.

'Encore Night' Slated Monday At Guignol

"Encore Night," a repeat performance of some of the outstanding events of the year in music, drama, and modern dance, will be presented by Phi Beta, music and speech sorority, at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Guignol Theater, Miss Helen Lipscomb, alumna of the group, announced.

The A Cappella choir of Transylvania College will begin the program with "Thou Man of Grief" by Harvey Davis, director, based on a southern hymn; "Salvation Is Created" by Tschesnekoff; and "No Man Is An Island" by Berger.

The University chamber music group will present the Minuetto from the Quartet in A and Allegro from the Quartet in D, both by Mozart.

To Read Arie
Pat Eads Herren, UK graduate student, will depict the Countess's aria from last summer's production of "The Marriage of Figaro" accompanied by Barbara Jones.

Members of Tau Sigma, modern dance honorary, will present "The Bells," an interpretation of the poem by Edgar Allan Poe. Dancers who will present it include Julia Barnhart, Jan Clarke, Bobbe Rice, Libby Kemper, Judy Henry, Joanne Shelton, and Sarah Compton, director. The card scene from "Born Yesterday,"

Waring, St. Paul's Choir To Appear Pennsylvanian Group Will Perform Tonight

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, nationally known orchestra-choir group, will present a program at Memorial Coliseum at 8:15 p.m. today under the auspices of the Community Concert Series.

Appearance of the 66 musicians, singers and their arrangers will mark the Concert Series' fifth presentation of the season.

The Pennsylvanians came to the UK campus after a successful season on television. Listener polls throughout the nation rate them as one of the most popular groups on TV today.

The orchestra-choir had its beginning more than 35 years ago as a small band in Tyrone, Pa., Waring's birthplace. The group's first instruments were a piano, drums, two musical saws and a banjo. All four members sang.

Played At Local Functions
The band played at local functions and parties until Waring entered Pennsylvania State College. There the group stuck together, playing weekend jobs at fraternity houses and adding new names to the band roster.

The group was known by various names, including the Banjazzra, Snap Orchestra and Waring's Pencil Sharpeners. They finally settled on "The Pennsylvanians," and that has remained the name of the group for 35 years.

Waring's effort to mold the group into a combination orchestra-choir resulted from early experiments with voice harmony. His voice, however, is considered unsuitable and he does not join the singers in their choral numbers.

Project Is Workshop
Another Waring project is the Fred Waring Choral Workshop, conducted for six weeks each summer near Delaware Water Gap, Pa. Choir leaders and music teachers from public schools, colleges, churches and industries throughout the nation enroll in the non-profit course to learn Waring techniques.

The workshop in its seventh year of operation drew more than 700 pupils this year. Instruction is given by Waring and members of his staff.

Tug Of War Suggested

For example, it was proposed that interest might be raised by having a tug of war, or some other similar form of competition, to bring the classes together.

Incorporation of the new officers was mentioned as the next problem. Since four officers from each class would be elected, 16 new representatives would have to be fitted into the student government body.

Miss O'Roark pointed out that the advantages of having class officers will be held. Organization of the different classes will be the biggest problem, the committee said. It was suggested that rallies and competition between the classes be used to spark interest.

Comments
Prof. R. D. McIntyre, professor of marketing, will give comments on each presentation.

Dave Stull is the stage manager for the production and Jim Reed is in charge of lights. Portions from former Guignol plays were organized by Lolo Robinson, associate director.

Tickets for the show are $1 and can be purchased at the Guignol box office or from any Phi Beta member. Proceeds will go to the Phi Beta scholarship fund.

A reception will be given by Kappa and Alpha Delta chapters of Phi Beta after the program. Barbara Weesner and Betty Chambers, presidents of the respective chapters, will preside.

WARING APPEARS TONIGHT, CONCERT SCHEDULED TUESDAY—Fred Waring (left) is shown directing the Pennsylvanians, nationally known orchestra-choir group which will appear at 8:15 o'clock tonight in Memorial Coliseum as the fifth Community Concert of the season. St. Paul's Cathedral choir (right) of London, England, consisting of 30 boy choisters and 18 men appear at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Coliseum. Their concert tour is believed to be the first ever undertaken by a British choir. UK students will be admitted to both performances by showing their ID cards.

Waring, St. Paul's Choir To Appear English Choir Will Be Sixth In Concert Series

The choir of historical St. Paul's Cathedral of London, England, will appear at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Coliseum as the sixth event of the 1953-54 Concert Series.

The choral group, consisting of 30 boy choisters and 18 men, appears here as part of a concert tour believed to be the first ever undertaken by a British choir.

Proceeds from the tour will be used to build a chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral in memory of 28,000 American servicemen who were based in Britain and who were killed in World War II.

The invitation to the group to tour the United States was issued by a special committee headed by Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court Justice.

Mention Found
Mention of St. Paul's Cathedral Choir has been found in records dated 1127, when the group's boy choisters, called "Children of Paul's," were headed by an official called an Almoner.

As long ago as the 14th century, the choisters are mentioned as producing Scriptural plays. In the reign of Elizabeth I, they appeared in plays by Shakespeare and Ben Jonson.

In 1876, a special school for 30 choisters and 10 probationers was built and has functioned ever since. The most recent honor accorded the group was its being chosen to sing with the Westminster Abbey Choir during the coronation of Elizabeth II.

Young Members
The 30 young members of the choir spend 40 weeks at their school, during which they sing at least 500 services and almost as many practices. In addition to their choral ability, their studies often lead to scholarships in public schools and universities.

The 18 men in the choir (six each of altos, tenors and basses) are called the Vicars Choral and originally numbered six until the last century when the choir was expanded. Originally, boys were "impressed" into the choir, but it is now so popular that applications for each vacancy number 20 to 25.

The choir's Tuesday night repertoire will extend from the 16th century masters, such as Handel, Mozart, Haydn and Schubert, to contemporary composers, such as Vaughan Williams and Gustav Holst.

Flu Shots Given By UK Infirmary

Flu shots are again being offered UK students, Miss Barl bara Owens, R.N., supervisor of nurses at the UK infirmary, said this week. The shots will be given this week and next between 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 and 3:30 p.m.

Miss Nella Raney R.N. said the injections should provide protection for five or six months, which is longer than that previously given. She said the army-approved method is being used because the injections in forearm cause less discomfort than those given in the shoulder.

The usual charge of 25 cents is being made.

Food In Women's Cafeteria Still Brings Complaints From Coeds

An eternal complaint on campus . . . food in the women's cafeteria . . . has again become a common topic of conversation among University coeds.

The criticisms remain generally the same: Lack of variety in the menu, poor preparation of food, too small portions, and too long lines.

In understanding the meal situation, the coeds should realize that institutional food can never be compared with what they have been accustomed to at home. Even the sorority houses have an advantage over the cafeteria in that they need to prepare for a comparatively small number of girls. In contrast, the dormitory cafeteria must serve more than 680 coeds a day.

One valid complaint, that of having to stand in such a long line, stems from the fact that a huge number of the girls living in the dormitories have classes from 11-12 noon. Consequently, there is a rush to get to the cafeteria for lunch and the line begins to double and triple its ordinary length. Distribution of classes is at fault in this instance.

Of the $220 paid each semester by every girl living in the dorms, 60 per cent of the money goes for board; the remaining 40 per cent is for room. Included in this 60 per cent are food, kitchen salaries, equipment, linens, depreciation cost, etc. An average of 39 1/4 cents is spent by each girl per meal. Only by preparing for a large number can the cafeteria work on such a small budget.

Contrary to popular belief, the same foods are not served on certain days each week. The meals are planned approximately a week in advance, with no scheduling of "chicken soup each Wednesday noon!"

Regarding the complaint about the poor quality of the food, the highest grade meats and vegetables obtainable are brought by the cafeteria. Each day, fresh produce is purchased. The quality of the food cannot be questioned.

Perhaps, then, it is in the preparation that the food is mishandled. The kitchen staff consists of nine employees, ranging from the chef to the salad women. The poor working hours required tend to discourage a good many prospective employees. Still, the present staff appears to be competent in their line of work.

The girls complain that the portions served are inadequate. If they are not getting enough to eat, then there is a legitimate reason for their criticism. But, more than likely, it is their own fault. Most of the girls fail to realize that they may go back for seconds on all vegetables and bread. Large portions are not given the first time in an effort to eliminate waste.

Perhaps the main shortcoming lies in the fact that the cafeteria has no room in which to expand. The staff must make the best of the facilities it already has. With the building of a new women's dormitory and cafeteria in the near future, the problem should be solved.

Two worthwhile efforts have been made this fall toward clearing up the food problem. A special supervisor has been appointed to see that each tray sent from the kitchen is attractive and well-prepared. Secondly, a committee of students has been appointed to hear the specific complaints of the girls, and in turn will carry them to a faculty committee which can take action toward solving the problem.

Stop and think, girls! Is it really an appalling situation, or are you merely echoing complaints so prevalent on other campuses?

Tri Mu Sorority Chapter Meeting Has Catty Tone

By RONNIE BUTLER

(The lovely cartoon above this column was drawn by John Richardson, local frat man who claims his cartoon represents the sentiments of the campus concerning The Toolbox. Well, John, just for kicks, let's see how the other half lives—the Mu Mu Mu sorority cats.)

"Ready, dearies. It's time for our lovely Mu Mu Mu chapter meeting."

"Myyyyyyyyy! Isn't Helen's Sacred Robe just darling?"

"Simply adorable, my dear, simply adorable."

"Now listen, girls, we just have to have a meeting. Will you please come to order?"

"That's better. Now, let's give the Mu Mu Mu motto. All together now."

"MMMMMMMMMM!"

"Excellent, girls. Now, let's have that darling little business meeting."

"Is there any old silly old business? Hmmm?"

"Yes, there is. I think we should play more bridge."

"But, Janie, you just know we play bridge all of the time now. Our faculty advisor says we play good bridge. Oh, she's just a darling."

"Very well, is there any more . . ."

"Oh, Patsie. THAT IS THE DARLINGEST MOST SACRED EMBLEM YOU HAVE TATTOOED ON YOUR FOREHEAD . . ."

" . . . old business?"

"I make a motion that Slug McGillicuddy be blackballed in this sorority."

"But why, dearie. Slug is just a darling boy."

"Oh, I know, but he has been seen with Independents before."

"Not really? Slug? Good old Sigma Phi Nothing Slug?"

" . . . AND THEN HE SAID THAT I WAS THE ONLY GIRL HE'D LET WEAR HIS PIN."

"DID YOU TAKE IT?"

"OF COURSE NOT, SILLY. THINK OF THE GOOD TIME I CAN HAVE STRINGING HIM ALONG."

" . . . so we'll just have to tell Slug . . ."

" . . . OF ALL THE BRASS NERVE. HE SAID I WOULD NEVER HAVE A HEAD COLD BECAUSE DISEASE CAN'T FUNCTION IN A VACUUM . . ."

" . . . and we really should get to the new business, girls. I have a date, and I simply can't be late this time."

" . . . AND HE LOOKED SO STUPID WHEN I SAID I WOULDN'T DATE HIM ANYMORE. IT WAS SO FUNNY, CALLING ME HEART-BREAKER . . ."

"GIRLS, IS THERE OR IS THERE AIN'T NO NEW BUSINESS?"

"I have thum new buthineh."

"What kind of new buth, uh, business, dearie?"

"All the boyth are calling uth pigth on the camputh."

"HOW HORRIBLE!"

"But ith the truth. They thay we are all pigth."

"Maybe if we pledged girls because of looks and personality instead of their fathers' money . . ."

"SILLY THING! WE JUST CAN'T AFFORD TO HAVE A SUPER, DE LUXE HOUSE AND FIVE TV SETS IF WE DON'T HAVE MONEY."

"Well, ith really terrible. Lath week thomeone athked me what kind of thlop I wanted in the cafeteria."

"Is there any more new business?"

"We simply have to work out a new point system for the pledges. Any suggestions?"

"Five points for breaking a date the night of the prom."

"Twenty-five points for causing two friends to break up."

"One hundred points for the girl who belongs to the most organizations—all worthless."

"Any more?"

"Yes, 200 points for the girl who convinces anyone that she is just the sweetest, naivest thing in this big ol' world."

"That just about finishes this silly old meeting, darlings. Shall we sing our Mu Mu Mu song?"

"Oh, let's do. I just loooooove to sing the Mu Mu Mu song."

"Ready? Everyone have mugs in hand, right foot on top of clean table?"

"LET'S SING THE MU MU MU SONG."

Waring Show Expected To Attract Capacity House, Columnist Asserts

By LESLIE MORRIS

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians are occupying the Euclid arena this evening, and we urge you to eat early and hurry over. From all indications the wide-open-spaces of the Rupp barony will be packed, and for good reason.

We have been an avid fan of the ageless Mr. Waring for some years, and his Sunday half-hour is a TV highspot. Backed by the G. E. bank-roll, the Waring show has perennially been blessed with lavish sets, original camera service, and a fast format.

As the many Waring fans know, his CBS programme features the entire Penn ensemble, which includes a fine chirruping, fast-stepping chorus; soloists, adagio duo, concert pianists: Livingstone and Gearhart, and the Waring orchestra. This parade should satisfy musiclovers at least part of the time, since the ol' veteran, still a youngish fifty, handles his group creditably in any melodic situation from Beethoven to Berlin.

Television has committed many boners, but the worst was probably the hatchet-job the network execs did on the former Waring hour, paring it to its present 30-minute limit. The Pennsylvanians, now slightly cramped, have never been quite able to match their brilliance of old, but it's still the best musical half-hour on the cable-ways (excluding, maybe, the Firestone boys).

Fred appeared only last Sunday on his CBS-video show, and his performance here will be one of his first on the current tour. Please don't miss 'im . . .

Remember several years ago when Hollywood was beating the bushes of Kentucky and the Southland for a youngster to play the kid in Clarence Brown's "The Yearling," which starred Greg Peck and Janie Wyman? A bright tow-head from a Tennessee manse, Claude Jarman, Jr., was finally selected, and went on to win an Academy Award, and roles in many other pics.

We bumped into Claude on the Vandy campus last week, where he's taking time out for a little book-lamin'. The "kid" is now a handsome six-footer, with a rich papa, and a ready-made career. Some guys have all the luck! . . .

We finally have the dope on CINEMASCOPE; "The Robe" is opening next Wednesday nite, and gets the full premier tinsel-treatment, with klieg lights, red carpet, radio broadcasters, celebs, et cetera. The prem will be open by invitation, and a select group of state and local big-wigs, and the press, will be on hand. The regular run will begin on the following day, and we have been assured by the local cinema rajahs that it will continue as long as Lexingtonians keep-coming.

Lexington is the first city under 100,000-pop to get the Cinemascope production, which has already paid back its $5 million investment, breaking box-office records in the Big Town's Roxy, and elsewhere.

To set the record straight: As fans know who witnessed the Louisville showing over the weekend, there is no special screen for Cinemascope. The entire panoramic screen (quote) now installed in the downtown theater will be utilized; the new process is created by an anamorphic lens and button-on sound head, which spurs a stereophonic track of "flexible" sound. The screen curves only twenty-one inches, but the arc is said to be so great that the curve effect is evident.

The Bluegrass bosses emphasize the fact that the premier treatment which "The Robe" is receiving throughout the nation is not intended as a side-show, but to usher in what the moguls think will be a new and prosperous era for the movie industry. While "The Robe" may be only a fair plot-picture, the new dimensional, bare-eye phenomenon may be the answer. We think so, and we hope so.

'Smokeless' Library Is Inconvenient For Students Wanting Cigarette

The policy of "No Smoking" in the foyer of the Margaret I. King Library is inconvenient for the student, to say the least. Three possible motivations lie behind such a ruling. (1) Headquarters is afraid the marble on the floor of the foyer will get scorched. (2) HQ is afraid that the library will fill up with smoke. (3) HQ is of the opinion that students, smoking in the foyer, do not look "gentlemanly."

These motivations are of the utmost interest, because an infinite number of things can be said about them. First, HQ's fear that the marble floors might get scorched is of scientific interest. Perhaps they are holding out on the latest discovery of science—that marble, when cigarettes are dropped on it, burns. If this is true, HQ was perfectly justified in its fears. Nothing we feel, would be quite as dangerous as a huge, blazing heap of glazed marble.

HQ's second reason for the decree, fear that the library will fill up with smoke, is even more interesting than burning marble. Picture the scene—huge clouds of nicotine-laden smoke billowing out from the Reserved Reading Room; coughs echoing and reechoing from the quiet depths of the Periodical Reading Room; students getting the wrong books because of the thick layer of smoke clinging to the wall.

Now, HQ's third reason, fear that smoking in the foyer does not look gentlemanly, is completely without basis. Nothing would add to the distinction of the Margaret I. King Library as much as a small group of well-dressed gents smoking in the foyer. Naturally, these student gents would have to be attired in tuxs and white gloves, holding a glowing cigarette in a solid gold holder, and casually blowing smoke rings at the prosaic statues dotted throughout the place.

At worst, these gentlemen could be photographed for a national cigarette advertisement, with unsolicited recommendations of library foyers for smoking comfort. "I have been smoking in the foyer for five years, and have never had irritation or burning of the marble."

Since HQ is determined to prevent smoking in the foyer, it must provide a place for students with book fatigue to relax now and then with a cigarette. Suggestion number (1): build a quonset hut smoking room directly behind the library. Since it will be a quonset hut, no one will notice it on the campus; (2) chop a hole in the ceiling of the library and provide ashtrays; (3) install long, metal cigarette holders in the walls, in such a manner as to allow the cigarette to burn on the outside of the building.

If HQ follows these suggestions, the Margaret I. King library will be safe from burning marble, smoke-filled rooms, and ungentlemanly actions.

Our Readers Speak: On Independents' Pride, WUS

Dear Editor:

In the Oct. 6, 1953 issue of the Kernel, a Suky member was quoted as saying that the Independent students didn't have the pride that the Greek students possessed.

Now, I wonder just how such a person who displays no more intelligence and consideration than that got admitted to such a fine institution as this University. It's a disgrace to the University that a student would make such a remark, and even more of a disgrace that the student newspaper, which is supposed to present impartial views and stories, would print it.

I have no pick at the Greeks. I just wonder if this person ever descended to come down off his lofty perch, which he has built all by himself, and see just how the other half of the students live without being a member of a Greek organization. I believe that he would find us to be sincere and honest human beings and very proud of the fact.

I think that particular member of Suky owes the whole student body of Independents an apology. Independent section if, and only if, we could give them assurance of a safety check of those sitting in the card section, since the responsibility of controlling student conduct rested with the Circle.

(Editor's note: It appears that Independent has completely misunderstood our purpose in printing the quote concerning the "pride of the Greeks." The Kernel's policy is to print impartial news stories, and to confine editorial views to the editorial page. In line with this policy, it is sometimes impossible to avoid stepping on a few toes in order to cover both sides of an issue. The Kernel did not state that the Independents have less pride than the Greeks . . . we merely carried a quotation from a meeting in which the subject was brought up. If we should consistently weed out all unfavorable comment there would be no purpose in having a student newspaper.)

The Circle discussed the problem of a safety patrol. Our decision was to obtain pledges from those fraternities wanting card section blocks that they would be responsible and fine members for disorderly conduct, such as throwing cards. We felt that by working through the group and individual control which a fraternity has over its members we could both meet the patrol requirement made by SGA.

Any fraternity which had signed the card section agreement was then to impose the fine upon any of its members who deviated from the card section rules. Furthermore, if any violation occurred, the Circle reserved the right to bar that organization from participation in either Homecoming or May Day competition or both.

When we had received signed pledges from a sufficient number of fraternities to fill the card section, we took our proposal to SGA. Our solution to its requirement for a safety check was fraternity check of members, plus Suky patrol of the section. We did not present the proposal with the idea of keeping Independents from sitting in the card section; rather we were trying to install the check which SGA required.

Suky does not have the power to enforce its rules upon any individual in the student body; it depends entirely upon cooperation from the students. An organization, such as a fraternity, does have the power to enforce its rules upon those who are members. Fraternity members which had voted to accept card section responsibility would feel obligated to conduct themselves properly. Therein lies

Suky Explains Quote

Dear Kernel Editor:

In regard to your article concerning the proposal made last week at SGA by the Suky Circle for re-organization of the card section, I should like to clarify a statement quoted by your reporter. This statement was to the effect that the reason for giving card section tickets only to fraternity members was that the members have a certain pride to prevent them from disorderly conduct in the card section, and that Independents do not.

When SGA passed a ruling to discontinue the card section, it stipulated that we could regain the

Students Offered Services Of Speech, Hearing Clinic

By JIM WEBB

In Willow Hall the University has the only school of its kind in the country. Located in the Psychology Annex, the school, for correction of speech and hearing defects, is among the services offered by UK's speech and hearing clinic.

Under the direction of Dr. Charles F. Diehl, associate professor of psychology, the clinic offers free examination by appointment to any resident of Kentucky.

Services of the clinic are incorporated into a summer training program for prospective speech therapists, teachers and clinical workers who have frequent contact with speech defective. The course is open at a fee to out of state individuals.

In addition to these services the clinic also has a working agreement with Cardinal Hill hospital for crippled children whereby it is responsible for instruction of cerebral palsy patients.

Students desiring therapy are given one or two half-hour sessions weekly.

The clinic also offers therapy to out-patients from the city, county and state who come in once a week for services. The Saturday morning diagnostic clinic offers free examination by appointment to any resident of Kentucky.

Dormitory Life Bewilders 'Big Wheel' From Coast

By JOHN STRACHAN

Upon arrival from the far west, J. J. Weak, a coast big wheel and friend, a movie magnate, finds himself in the precarious position of having to register for a room in one of the UK dormitories. These buildings are called dorms by those who are familiar with a real live monitor.

J. J. registers and finds his room number will be LF18369. This serves not only as a room number, but as the number on his life insurance policy as well.

Upon entering his room he manages to hide his surprise at the fact there are no plush carpets and no Van Goo pictures on the wall.

J. J. is in for a much bigger shock than that, however. The first of his two new roommates enters. This one's name is Tom Fooley, a real Kentucky mountaineer from Yearn, Ky. Even J. J. can tell this boy is strictly hillbilly, since the only baggage he carries is a jug of moonshine.

To add insult to injury, J. J.'s second roommate ambles in after the first. This one is a real humdinger. He is a true Southern aristocrat. Drinks nothing but mint juleps and claims if he cuts himself while shaving, blue blood pours out. The only catch to this Southerner is that he lives 35 inches from the Ohio border.

After scrubbing eight layers of dirt off the windows and all the writing off the walls, J. J. and Fooley decide to flip coins to see who sleeps in the top bunk. The Southerner doesn't join in because he claims he gets nose bleeds at high altitudes.

Fooley loses the flip but is still happy because there is not only enough room to sleep under there, but plenty of space to set up his still. When he sees this and also observes the Southerner on the floor shooting dice, J. J. begins to get wary of the whole situation.

His fears are calmed by the fellows when they tell him that since there are no studies tonight, they are going to have a little party and invite friends over.

Promptly on the dot of midnight the friends arrive, accompanied by their guitar and a wolf deck of playing cards. The brawl begins to the rhythm of the radio which has been tuned in to seven solid hours of Hank Snow.

When the party reaches the point where all concerned are practicing high dives off Fooley's still, J. J.'s biggest worries come true. Without even knocking, swarms of men with hammer and sickle arm bands raid the party. J. J. finds himself in the position of facing the dean, but this doesn't take very long because "Get out" isn't a very long sentence.

UK Anthropology Museum Undergoing Redecoration

By DONNA VILLESVICK

The Anthropology Museum is being repaired and redecored for the first time to a great extent since it was built in 1907.

The program began last May and will be completed around April of 1954 by the Maintenance Department. Raymond H. Thompson, curator of the museum, is in charge of the program.

There are many structural repairs being made such as roof and floor repairing. Shelves have been built in the basement with interchangeable drawers which will contain the relics not being studied or displayed.

A laboratory is being built in the basement to clean the relics and to treat them with chemicals. New partitions have also been constructed to provide more office space.

The main floor of the museum is being reorganized and will be chiefly for the appreciation of the public. Thompson said. New exhibit cases are being added which will be provided with inner lighting for a better perspective. Thompson plans to display exhibits showing the earliest inhabitants up to the Indians that were here in Kentucky when the white man came. The exhibits will be organized into periods of history.

A stairway has been built leading up to the balcony where the more specialized exhibits will be placed. Thompson plans to show relics here which will help the students and their courses in Anthropology and Societies Around the World.

The purpose of the redecoration is mainly to provide a more extensive exhibition of the museum's collection of relics, because formerly there was not enough space to handle the collections. As a result of the work of Dr. W. S. Webb, former head of the Anthropology Department, one of the finest collections of pre-historic Indian remains in the eastern United States and in the South is here at UK, Mr. Thompson declared.

The museum was a gift to the University by Andrew Carnegie through the efforts of former President Patterson and was originally built for a library. It was given to the Anthropology Department about 1932 and served as a research center as well as a place for their regional displays.

A custom that should Go down the drain
Is girls' dressing up
For a football game!

Coeds at LSU took this subtle hint to heart and began a fashion revolution. Now bobby socks and sports jackets take the place of heels and slinky dresses for football attire. Everyone, especially the cheerleaders and the girls' dates are more than well pleased with the new trend. So what started as an experiment promises to be a permanent trend at LSU. Is there any chance that the same thing might go into effect at UK?

Most colleges have May Day, Sadie Hawkins' Day, Founders Day, and scads of other "days" set aside to celebrate one event or another. Few, however, have a Dad's Day. The University of Cincinnati is one of the schools who choose to honor the dads of all the students. This Saturday will be that day. Dads of the football players and the cheerleaders will sit on the side-lines at the game, and each father will be proudly wearing the number of his son.

In traditional Auburn style, the University of Cincinnati has also started a move for campus friendliness. Last week "Hello Week" was completed, and the students who stroll down that shaded lane are confronted with signs similar to "Stop, smile, say hello." Perhaps UK could revive its old "Hello" Walk, that is if the gardeners who have taken the Botanical Gardens into hand leave enough trees on campus to hang signs upon.

Paging Clyde Beatty! Ben Swanson has a collection of 40 pets, and the University of Houston student body wishes that this brave lad would do away with at least 39 of them. Then perhaps the campus would return to normal, and the screams of frightened coeds would subside.

Although the collection which includes rattlesnakes, a cobra, two half-grown alligators, a coat-mud, and three iguana lizards is safely caged, an air of uneasiness still prevails. There is even talk that the student body will request that the eight man guard around their harmful cougar mascot will shift positions and guard them against Swanson's collection instead.

Oh, for the originality of a college professor! A Bio-science prof at Michigan State told his class he was disgusted because so few of his students believed in flying saucers. To the amazement of the class he reached into a bag and started hurling China plates across the room. Luckily, no one was hurt by the flying missiles, although a few ran from the room in fright.

Last year, the Republic of Slobobovia produced 35 million tons of purple ice cubes.

Campus Activities Fill Weekend

By ANN O'ROARK

"When it rains it pours," so the old adage goes and with weekends like this one and the next, everyone will be ready to take on any "volunteers" that dare to show up.

The judging for the 1954 Kentucky Queen will be held this afternoon. This is one time that Kentucky really does live up to its reputation of having "the most beautiful women" in the world. Fred Waring will be the master of ceremonies for the program.

For his official appearance and concert, Fred Waring and his company will live up to the Coliseum to-night at 8:15 o'clock. The way things are looking now, anyone who pants a seat in our "covered garage" (to quote Bob Hope) will have to go very early. Whoever sells box lunches should make a fortune.

Wildcats Will Roar

Tomorrow the Wildcats will roar over Memphis State at 2 p.m. on Stoll Field. This is their last warm-up before the game of the season which will bring back the beer keg that Tennessee has kept far too long.

Students Do No Dating At Philippine University

By MARY ELLEN KING

"There is no dating at the University of the Philippines," says Primitiva P. Perez, in comparing the school from which she graduated with UK, where she is now a graduate student.

"We had visiting hours at the girls' dormitory, just as you have visiting hours at hospitals. This is the only time that the boys and girls see each other, except in classes and on campus. Girls don't go out on dates. When they go to a movie, they go in groups of at least six. Occasionally a girl sneaks out of the dorm, but she is considered a 'bad girl' when she is caught."

Miss Perez is in her second year of graduate work here, majoring in education. She plans to go back to the Philippines and teach.

When asked why she chose UK, she replied that she had "a friend who had a friend, a GI, who went

The Kappa Alpha's will have their first serenade of the year Wednesday night and the Tri-Delts will conclude their round of songs on Thursday night.

The Chi Omega Mother's Club held a meeting at the Chi Omega House last Monday after a luncheon there. The Chi O's are planning to redecorate their recreation room.

The Phi Tau's have announced their pledge officers for this fall. They are Jerry Falley, president; Joe Pat Gaines, vice-president; Gussy Robinson, secretary-treasurer; and Joe Galloway, sergeant-at-arms. The pledge class presented the actives with a gift of Glen Miller's records last week.

The time is growing short and the chicken wire, crepe paper, nails, and hard work on Homecoming decorations is beginning to show at many of the houses this week. Yes, Kentucky is getting ready to march—march right over Tennessee next weekend.

There are many remedies for battle fatigue, but the only good aid for campus fatigue is three days of sleeping and eating during Thanksgiving, which will come just in the nick of time.

Freshman Tells Of Typical Evening In Patterson Hall

By ANN MONARCH

It was 7:30 p.m., and a fire-bell rang, bringing to a close the day's freedom.

My roommate rushed in, slammed the door, and tripped over a pile of books in the middle of the floor. She picked herself up, uttered a few remarks not recommended by Emily Post, and stumbled over to fall on her bed.

As she was contentedly starting at the ceiling, someone visiting us asked, "Don't you have to study?"

"Study?" she said. "What's that?" Then for some reason we all began to laugh. My idiot roommate gave one final squawk and rolled off her bed onto the floor and her face.

At this point our room began to look like an extension of the Student Union. Several girls wandered in to discuss the latest event—usually male—and to giggle at the newest joke.

Goldfish Pickled

My poor gold fish was having a gay time until someone poured perfume in his bowl. Pickled fish.

A neighbor across the hall had just given herself a "Prom" or a "Lilt," permanent, and we had raised the window to air our room. It was soon like an iceshow. We closed the window.

Four minutes later our room was filled with smoke, the foul smelling stuff rising from literally hundreds of cigarettes that had been lit when the window went down.

Fond Goes Fast

Mine good buddy from down the hall is industriously availing herself to the package of food my mother had sent me yesterday. She was just a little late.

At exactly 9:45 we began to study. My roommate roused herself just enough to call out, "Hand me a cigarette," and extended a limp hand to receive same.

Just then somebody announced that she couldn't smoke on the bed. My roomy just grinned, lit her cigarette, and practically committed suicide getting off her bed as a knock sounded on our door.

We roared into laughter, and a counselor thrust her head inside our room to say sweetly, "One call down for that, girls."

Outside a boy turned down our sidewalk. One gal yelled "A man!" Immediately the grinning fellow's ears began to burn from six or seven female wolf whistles.

Bell Rings Again

At 10 the fire-bell rang again, and since it was Monday, we rushed down to the lounge for a house meeting. By a piano stood a counselor, waiting for us to quiet down.

After about five minutes of gossiping, we heard a vicious shushing sound and turned our attention to her. In another five minutes everything was quiet, most of the girls were asleep.

At 11 we were awakened, and we hurried back to our room to talk in bed until a counselor rapped on our door for quiet.

We gave one final giggle and went to sleep.

German Teachers Will Lead Panel

Several German secondary school teachers, who are at the University to observe our educational system, will lead a panel entitled "Glimpse of the German University Student."

The panel will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Music Room of the Student Union. It will be composed of Mrs. Gertrud Maria-Luise Sack; Miss Ingeborg Klotz; Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen; Miss Gertraud Anne Lehmkuhler; Franz Wilding, and Wolfgang Karl Wilhelm Neumann.

The teachers were brought to America by the U.S. State Department in order to bring about an exchange of ideas in education between the two nations.

University students are invited to attend the panel, Sally Maggard, chairman of the committee, said.

UK Art Students Enter Sculptures In Berea Exhibit

The work of 14 UK Art Department students of wood sculpturing is being featured in an exhibition which opened last week in the Berea College Art Building.

The wood sculptures display, combined with a showing of graphic work by Murray State College students, will continue through November.

All the work exhibited by UK students was done as part of the regular work of a class in intermediate design taught by Prof. Raymond Barnhart, assistant professor of art. Purpose of the course is to provide third year art students with problems in design.

The wood used in the sculptures came from this immediate area and was not purchased especially for the students. Local varieties of wild cherry, sycamore, yellow pine, oak, cedar, walnut, ash and locust were used.

The sculptures are made from direct observation during which sketches or clay models were made. The finished pieces are covered with several coats of boiled linseed oil which gives the wood a washable surface.

The 14 students represented in the exhibition are David Adams, Donald Adams, Jerry Bronson, Beverly Davis, Patsy Ennis, Dolly Ernst, Doris Morgan, William Powers, Nancy Schaeffer, Hazel Schwartz, Dan Shindler, Laurel Statham, Kenneth West and Roger Williams III.

Dr. J. B. Shannon Speaks In Florida

"Dwight D. Eisenhower As a Party Leader" was the subject of a speech given by Dr. J. B. Shannon of the UK Political Science Department in Gainesville, Fla. last weekend. He was the only UK professor attending the annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association Nov. 5-7.

Professors of political science represented all southern colleges at this meeting. A roundtable discussion was heard on the first nine months of the Eisenhower administration.

Considering Eisenhower's personality, Dr. Shannon said, "Close observers of his military and political behavior have said that first he hesitates, then stumbles, but rather quickly recovers his fumbles and follows with an acceptable if not brilliant performance."

Dr. Margaret Hotchkiss Attends Meet In Rome

Dr. Margaret Hotchkiss, professor of bacteriology, has returned from Rome, Italy where she attended the Sixth International Congress of Microbiology last September.

At the meeting of this world organization which was held at the Citta Universitaria, Dr. Hotchkiss submitted a paper prepared by her and some of her students on the resistance of the Genus Shigella to streptomycin.

Other scientists there presented their papers in their native tongues. Dr. Hotchkiss said, and they were interpreted if necessary. The program of the conference was printed in English, French, and Italian.

"There is a great deal of nonsense about Europeans not liking Americans," she commented. "They went more than out of their way to be nice to us."

Besides attending the meeting, Dr. Hotchkiss was able to visit the museum at Rome's city hall where paintings, statues, and tapestries were displayed. She also saw the ruins of the palace of Emperor Hadrian and the gardens of the palace of the Villa d'Este.

Rays From Outer Space Studied By UK Graduate

By RONNIE BUTLER

Somewhere, out near the White Sands Proving Grounds for guided missiles in New Mexico, a lean, curly-haired young man is doing some unique research for the government.

Two years ago, the same young man was on the UK campus, and, three years ago, he was struggling to overcome the crippling rheumatoid arthritis which, for a long time, kept him bedfast in the UK Infirmary.

Campus police still tell about the times they saw Robert McDaniel shuffling across the campus, on his way home. They'd ask him if he wanted a ride, but McDaniel would always politely refuse the offer, and plod along on his own, each joint in his body throbbing with pain.

Tries Miracle Drug
In 1950, McDaniel was given treatments consisting of injections of a new miracle drug, Cortistone. Almost immediately, he improved rapidly enough to allow him to leave the Infirmary and to keep up with his work.

McDaniel already had, at that time, a reputation for being one of the most brilliant students to enter the graduate school in physics. When his work here was finished, a friend of his—a doctor—told him he needed three things before he could live a happy, successful life.

First, he was told, he should find a job in a good physics department. Second, he must live in the best possible climate, and, last, try to be near expert medical advice.

McDaniel accepted a position in the physics department at the University of Arizona, in Tucson. There, he found the three things that had been prescribed for him, and it wasn't long before he was living a happy, comfortable life.

Studies Cosmic Rays
His happiness stemmed from the opportunity he was given to do research in his field of interest—cosmic rays. The White Sands proving grounds enlisted his aid in exploring the mysteries of cosmic rays, and it wasn't long before local newspapers began running "Buck Rogers" stories concerning his work.

Cosmic rays, which have always been a mystery to science, gave him the challenge he wanted so badly, and today he is one of the few men who has done active research on them.

Radioactivity is found in the form of cosmic rays in outer space. Their source is believed to be the sun. These cosmic rays, which McDaniel is studying, are particles of matter so small that they can't be seen under the most powerful microscopes.

No Sweater Swing

Tuesday's sweater swing has been canceled, due to a concert to be given in the Coliseum the same night by the St. Paul Cathedral Choir.

They travel at such tremendous speeds that they slice through the atmosphere and penetrate the earth to depths exceeding those of the deepest mines.

Rays Are Invincible
The rays are so powerful that nothing will stop them—not metal, not other substance known to man. At Tucson, cosmic rays strike human beings at the rate of approximately 10 a minute, McDaniel has discovered.

Although most of these cosmic rays pass through the body harmlessly, about one in 100 strikes the nucleus of an atom in the body and explodes the nucleus.

This is where McDaniel's work becomes important. By sending up photographic plates coated with a special emulsion in rockets, he is computing the probable effect cosmic rays will have on men when they travel into outer space.

His photographic plates, which are sent up in army rockets, record the intensity of the rays 60 to 70 miles above the earth's surface (and higher). By studying the rays, McDaniel hopes to find some way to protect men from their ferocious power.

Works On Own Time
McDaniel doesn't know how long his research will take, but he's doing it on his own time, without a research grant. He plans to spend this Christmas vacation at White Sands to continue his work.

For a fellow who was once crippled and confined to a bed at UK, Robert E. McDaniel has come a long way. There was a day when he couldn't drive a car because of his physical handicap. Today he is making the road to space travel possible.

Bryant Displays Reserve Strength In Vandy Rout

By HANK MAYO

The Whatnot Wildcats, who have been extremely unpredictable this season, scored the first time they got their hands on the ball and went on to crush oft-beaten Vanderbilt, 40-14, at Nashville Saturday in their last away game this season. The remaining two games, Memphis State and Tennessee are to be played at Stoll Field.

The Cats, after taking the opening kick-off back to their own 27, sent Fullback Ralph Paolone through the center for four yards. Hardy on second down took the ball on a keep play and after racing nine yards, tossed a lateral to big Steve Mellinger who scooted to the Vandy 20.

Paolone then picked up five to the 15. Hardy, on an option play, found plenty of room off-tackle and raced for the touchdown. He also added the extra-point and the Cats led 7-0 with only 1:48 gone in the initial period.

The Bryantmen got their first defensive test as they fumbled and Vandy recovered on the Kentucky 37. On their first play Looney passed to McKinnon to the 26. The Cats held and took over on downs on its 33.

Following this, Fullback Paolone raced 35 yards but the threat died out as a fourth-down pass by Hardy failed and gave the ball to Vandy on its 33.

Once again the Commodores caught fire as Halfback Charlie Horton tight-rope'd the Kentucky defense for 46 yards to the Wildcat 25. The drive was halted when Fullback Ray Callahan intercepted a Vandy pass in the end zone.

UK Stopped By Penalties

Kentucky, after moving 58 yards to the Vandy 22, was stopped by successive penalties of five and 15 yards and the Commodores took over. Unable to move the ball, Vandy was forced to punt. Bradley Mills received the ball on his own 48 and returned it to the Vandy 41.

The second Wildcat touchdown came as Hardy passed 17 yards to Joe Flatt and followed this with an 11-yard pass to Shatto. This placed the ball on the eight-yard line. Hardy, on two carries, scored from the two. Again Hardy's try for the extra-point was good and the Cats led 14-0 after 7:09, of the second period.

The third period was the Cats' big scoring spree as they received the kick-off and in 11 plays went 58 yards with Hardy going over from the one. Again Hardy converted and the Cats led 21-0.

A 41-yard run by Shatto set up the next touchdown, as Hardy on the option play was hit on the four and laterallied to Don Netoskie, who raced across for the touchdown. Hardy missed his first try for the extra-point and the Cats led 27-0.

Hunt Passed For Fifth TD

Hunt passed to End Jerry Beatty for the fifth Cat TD. Netoskie added the extra-point and the Cats led 34-0.

The second Vandy TD came as Hawkins recovered Cornutt's fumble on the Kentucky 46. After 15 and 23 yard gains, Byers went over for the TD. Krietemeyer added the extra point and Kentucky led 34-14.

This left just enough time for the Cats to engineer another touchdown as Rushing, in at quarterback for the Cats, sneaked over from the one. The try for the extra-point failed and the final score was Kentucky 40, Vanderbilt 14.

Cagers Gain Game Practice In Scrimmages With Rockets

By JOHN K. RYANS

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats have certainly had their hands full this week, as they scrimmaged four afternoons with the visiting Andrews Air Force Base Rockets. The Rockets, who made the trip especially to scrimmage against the Wildcats, arrived Monday afternoon.

Two former UK basketballers, Bobby Watson and C. M. Newton, are regulars on Coach John Toomay's Andrews five. Both appear to be in excellent shape, and show that they haven't lost their eye for the basket that they had while playing at UK.

Newton said that the Rockets are expected to have one of the finest service teams in the country this season. He said that the squad was a little slow getting into shape, but that they should be in fine condition by their opening game Nov. 24. Besides their regular schedule of service teams, the Rockets also play several colleges including Maryland, Georgetown University, and George Washington.

Andrew's "Rockets" Look Strong
If their play against the Wildcats is an indication of their usual play, the Rockets certainly have a powerhouse. They were able to give the Wildcats plenty of trouble until the latter parts of the scrimmages, where the excellent condition of the Wildcats gave them an advantage.

The Wildcats were hampered in the series of scrimmages by the absence of big Lou Tsiropoulos. He suffered a knee injury in Friday's practice and is not expected to be available for much practice before the first game of the season. The loss of Tsiropoulos is a major blow to the Wildcats, as he is one of the best rebounders on the squad and also an excellent shot. He is the second Wildcat to suffer a knee injury this fall. Several weeks ago Willie Rouse hurt his knee, but is back at practice now, although it is not completely healed.

Invitational Pairings Announced
Pairings for the Kentucky Invitational basketball tournament, to be held in the Coliseum Dec. 21 and 22, were announced this week by Athletic Director Bernie Shively. The pairings, made in a blind draw, place UK against Duke and LaSalle against UCLA the first night with the losers meeting in the preliminary game the next night, and the winners playing for the title.

Coach Harry Lancaster's freshman cagers also got quite a bit of experience this week against the Andrews AFB reserves. Although lacking a real big man, the freshmen showed a lot of promise against the Air Force team. A recent addition to the freshman squad is Steve Shuck, a former Lafayette cager.

Rupp Speaks At Sports Dinner

Coach Adolph Rupp was the featured speaker at the annual Sports Show which was held Wednesday at the Seelbach Hotel in Louisville. The show was given in connection with the Bourbon Beef Show.

The "Baron" spoke on his favorite subject, basketball, and his favorite hobby, raising beef cattle.

Other sport figures present included Pee Wee Reese, popular captain of the Brooklyn Dodgers; Forrest Kaelin, famous jockey, and Coach Ed "Red Towel" Diddle, who introduced his seven-foot basketball star, Jerry Weber.

Larry Boeck, sports writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal, gave a brief summary of UK and Tennessee preparations for the big game coming up between these schools.

UK Hockey Team Loses Second Tilt

UK's women's field hockey team lost its second game of the season, when an experienced University of Cincinnati aggregation defeated the visitors, 3-1, Monday at the Cincinnati hockey field.

Mary Helm made the lone goal for the UK team, which had been beaten earlier in the year by Eastern State College.

Nancy Lilly, Mary Estes, Evelyn Duncan, Shirley Smith, Jane Rizor, Dorothy McPhail, Ann Gordon, Mary Helm, Dee Shinnick, Pat Carter, Peggy Driscoll and Lois Holland were the members of the team who made the trip to Cincinnati. They were accompanied by Misses Joyce Perbix, Mary Carson, and Phillips Kloecker, faculty members.

I-M Roundup

PKT, SAE, KA And SN Win First Round Tests

PKT, SAE, SN, and KA won first round games as the I-M football tournament opened this week. The fraternity champions will meet the independent winners Monday night at Legion Field for the University title.

Favorites ran into unexpected opposition, only the KA's winning by more than one touchdown. KA defeated Triangle 13-0. Charles Mitchler scored the first KA touchdown, intercepting a Triangle pass early in the first half. KA garnered their second TD near the end of the half on a pass from Bob Logan to Jim Weaver. Bill Codell carried the ball over for the extra point.

The two teams fought to a standstill in the second half, neither being able to put together an offensive threat.

SN continued their winning ways handing PDT a 6-0 setback. SN chalked up the game's only score in the second half when Norm Miller connected with Ray Jones on a long pass.

PKT knocked PKA out of the running for the title with a 6-2 decision. PKA picked up their safety in the first half when the PKT snap from center was fumbled in the end zone. Don Sullivan ran the ball over for Phi Tau's winning weeks.

KS threw a scare into the defending champions SAE before bowing 14-7. Jack Martin and Jimmy Baxter accounted for the SAE markers. Both scored on short runs after long passes had set the plays up. Baxter passed to Sherrill Ward for both extra points.

KS got their TD with only seconds left in the game when Ronny Bonnell, faking an end run, passed to Al Hall in the end zone.

Basketball

The basketball free throw competition will be held Monday and Tuesday nights at Alumni Gym.

I-M basketball leagues will swing into action Wednesday night. Schedules haven't been released as yet but all rosters are in. The schedules will be posted on the bulletin board on the second floor of Alumni Gym. Approximately 25 teams will carry on the cage schedule. The Kernel will carry the schedule from week to week for the following weeks.

Potent UK Swim Team Preps For Big Season

Kentucky's 1953 swimming team will open its season Jan. 15 against Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

This year's team is built around seven returning letter-men. However, Coach Reese said that the team would not be at top power until the second semester because of the ineligibility of some of the boys. "We will be short in the backstroke, particularly until Jim McDonald and Paul Bollinger become eligible next semester," he said.

Bollinger is a transfer from Miami and a former high school stand-out at St. Xavier in Louisville.

Also missing will be diver Louis Karibo who will not be available until after the football season.

Roger Messick heads the list of last season's performers who have been working out since Oct. 26 in the Coliseum pool. Messick was a mainstay of last year's squad and topped several records in last year's SEC competition.

Returning in the freestyle class are Dick Deane, Ken Glass, and Gene Lewis. The backstroke will have to rely on Richard Meedley and Jim McCabe until McDonald and Bollinger become eligible.

Eight Men Lost
Coach Reese lost eight men from last year's squad. John Taylor was the only graduating senior. Lost by way of eligibility were Bruce Kunkel and John Burk who completed their three years eligibility last season.

Others failing to report this fall were Stuart Meyer, Dick Dedmon, Glen Thompson, and George King. King did not re-enter school this fall.

Coach Reese said he hoped to reinforce his lettermen with some first year men who have been working out since Oct. 5.

In the freestyle, Dave Andre, James Hogan, William Lazier, Bill Levy, Bill Love, and Dean Wuchterl have shown great promise. The diving contingent will be helped by Charles Farley, Leroy Lankston, Truman Taylor, and Sherrill Ward. John Bowman is the only new backstroke.

Three Big Meets On Tap

The schedule this year is highlighted by participation in three important championship meets. They are the Southern Regional Invitational Intercollegiate Championships at Atlanta on Feb. 11-12; the SEC at Gainesville, Fla., on March 4-5-6; and the NCAA meet at Syracuse,

N. Y., on March 25-26-27.

Louisville will be at Lexington on Jan. 22, Cincinnati on Jan. 29, and Berea on Feb. 20. The first away meet is against Georgia Tech on Jan. 15, in Atlanta. The following day the Wildcats meet Emory University in Atlanta. Jan. 23, Kentucky will be at Vanderbilt, then on Feb. 6, they meet Tennessee. On Feb. 19, they will be in Oxford, Ohio, to meet Miami of Ohio. On March 3, the Wildcats will be in Tallahassee to meet Florida State.

New I-M Point System Set Up

A new point system for Intramural sports has been announced by Bob Clark, director of I-M activities.

Under the new system each organization will be limited in entries to twice the number of men required to play a particular sport. Thus tennis requires only one man to play so an organization may enter a maximum of two men. Football requires nine men so 18 men may be listed on the roster.

A participant or team will receive one point for each match or game played and two points for a victory. Three points will be given for each man on a runner-up team and five for each man on the winning team. (The team winning football would receive 45 points while the runner-ups would get 27 points.) I-M play will begin Monday in flag football, golf and tennis singles and horseshoes.

WHATDIDHESAY?

A very fastidious college senior decided to add a few colored shirts to his wardrobe. So one afternoon, he strolled down to the local shirt shop. "I'd like to see your smartest colored shirts," he said to the clerk.

The clerk laid several Van Heusen Vanahue Broadcloths on the counter. "These are our best sellers," he said. "They're tailored of fine, high-count broadcloth that's very smooth and luxurious. And you can take your pick of eight different collar styles—including Van Heusen's new short collars that are the rage of the college set."

"They sure look good to me," said the senior.

"Good? They're terrific!" replied the clerk. "Just look at that magic seamanship—Van Heusen's finest. Why, even the buttons are top quality, genuine ocean pearl. And Vanahue Broadcloths come in every color of the rainbow—from soft, subtle shades to rich robust tones. What's more, they're only $3.95 apiece."

"Do you have henna color?", asked the young man.

"That's just what I got finished telling you," answered the clerk. "You can have henna color you want!"

'Little Vols' Provide Prep For Tennessee

By BILL BURLISON

The Big Blue of Kentucky will get their first look at the single wing tomorrow when they go up against the Tigers of Memphis State on Stoll Field at 2 p.m.

The blue and grey Tigers have not had too successful a year with an over-all record of five wins and three losses. They opened the season with the Mississippi State Maroons and were thoroughly trounced 34 to 6. Next Memphis State took on the University of Chattanooga and took them into camp by the score of 7-6. They then defeated Louisiana Tech 13-7. Murray went down 20-0. They then edged out Tennessee Tech 14-7.

Lost To Middle Tenn.

Their four-game winning streak was broken by Middle Tennessee when they lost a heart-breaker 26 to 20. The Tigers found the winning way by beating Mississippi Southern for their big win of the season thus far. The score in that one was 27-13. Last week they were defeated by Arkansas State 20-0.

In the backfield the fullback slot is alternated between Paul Bruno, a 180-pound senior, and Billy Russell, 180-pound sophomore. At tailback are Ollie Keller, a senior letterman and an excellent passer, and Tommy Spiers, a transfer from Ole Miss who has made a remarkable transition from T-formation football. The Tigers are well set up at blocking back with three-letter winner Ferris Wing, and Tom Twitty, a senior letterman.

In the line the Tigers have some size but their inexperience has been hurting them. They have played some exceptionally fine games such as the triumph over Mississippi Southern who beat Alabama, and have played some bad ones as in last week's loss to Arkansas State. The team boasts several reliable linemen built around 190-pound Tony Taylor.

Coach Rates Backfield Weak
Coach Ralph Hatley summed up the squad as the backfield being weak with the absence of a good triple-threat tailback. The tackles are inexperienced, but large. The guards are adequate but not outstanding and the centers are "just average."

The Big Blue emerged from last week's fracas at Vanderbilt with no major injuries and should be in fine shape for tomorrow's go.

There will be added festivities as the Pershing Rifles will put on an exhibition before the game to entertain those who arrive early. This is added to the Marching 100 who will give their usually good show.

A crowd of around twenty-eight thousand will be on hand for the kick-off. The game will be broadcast by WVLK, WLAP, WLEX, and WHAS.

Probable starting lineups:
Kentucky — H. Schnellenberger, LE; Neil Lowry, LT; Ray Correll, LG; Tommy Adkins, C; Joe Koch, RG; Harry Kirk, RT; Jim Proffitt, or Al Zampino, RE; Bob Hardy, QB; Steve Meilinger, LH; Joe Platt, RH; and Ralph Paolone, FB.

Memphis State — Will Renfro, LE; Carl Young, LT; Bob Peterson, LG; Tony Taylor, C; Hugh Hathcock, RG; Jack Jones, RT; Carlton Henley, RE; Gerry Mitchell, QB; Ollie Keller, LH; Jimmy Cole, RH; and Sonny Rodgers, FB.

Kittens Travel To Nashville For Vanderbilt 'B' Tussle

The University of Kentucky freshman football team will invade Vanderbilt's freshman squad this afternoon at Nashville. They left yesterday afternoon and will return after the game today.

The young Cats have won one and have no defeats against them this season. Their victory came earlier in the year when they set back Morehead 19-13. The UK freshman squad will be out to avenge a 21-0 setback they suffered at the hands of the Vandy freshmen last year. Frank Pettet was Kentucky's leading ground gainer in last year's game with 98 yards against the Commodores. He is making the trip this year, but as a tackle instead of a ball carrying fullback.

Probable starters for UK are Ralph Moran and Bill Holt at ends, Ken Lutz and Bob Shaefer at the tackles, Gayle Rouse and John Goble at guards, Steve Kiefer at center, Billy Mitchell and Jack Freeman at halfbacks, Bobby Walker at fullback, and Delmar Hughes will operate at quarterback.

Others making the trip are Jerry Plau, Ivan Curmutte, Henry George, Jim Gibson, Jim Miller, John Mullins, Bob Bennett, Dale Waite, J. T. Frankenberger, Frank Pettet, and Roger Pack.

Jerry Claiborne will be head mentor for the squad. The team will stay at the Noel Hotel in Nashville.

First Frater — "What was that chatter?"

Second Frater — "Brother Foss just fell down the stairs with a quart of whiskey!"

First Frater — "Did he spill it?"

Second Frater — "No, he kept his mouth shut."

With the football season in a lull as far as UK is concerned (we can't be pessimistic about the Memphis State game), we would like to take this opportunity to give some men behind Kentucky's athletic program a little publicity. The unsung athletes who run three and four miles a day because they love the sport of track—such is the interest of the members of the UK cross country squad.

They haven't won their last six meets nor are they being mentioned for any national meet, yet they keep running. Such fellows as Frank Scott, captain of the team; Charlie Wells, another two year man, freshmen Dave Collett, Frank Ford, Keith Mahurin, Don Atkinson, Jim McGinty and junior Ed Shriner.

Their course of practice is the UK campus. Up around the Law Building, behind the Engineering Quad, across the drill field around the Student Union and across the I-M field—these are the tracks covered each day in practice for the next meet.

The next meet is tomorrow morning out at Picadome Golf Course when they meet Berea and Morehead at 11 a.m. Oh yes, a mention of the men behind the scenes who coach should be made. Dr. Don Cash Seaton and Ralph Hoover are doing a fine job, as in past years, to raise the standards of track without the aid of scholarships and publicity.

In an attempt to raise the class of cross country in the state, the Spiked Shoe Society is sponsoring the Kentucky State High School Run at 10 a.m. About 10 schools are entered in this second of such events. How about taking about an hour or so out and going out to watch these boys head for the hills—so to speak. Those high school boys will fool you with their endurance, too.

In direct opposition to the existence of only one out-of-state boy on the Rice grid squad two weeks ago, we found on the Vanderbilt roster that there were 16 different states represented and that there were only 15 men from Tennessee out of 47 listed on the playing squad. The reason is simple because surely there couldn't have been much pro-seleying. The Commodores don't have the class of team which should result from such practices.

Vanderbilt is a private institution and must compete with Tennessee for players. Vandy charges some $700 a year tuition compared to around $140 at UT.

In the latest grid statistics released by Ken Kuhn's "just want and give the facts" office, an oddity has cropped up. Under pass receptions, it was noticed that End Al Zampino has caught six passes this season and has carried every one for a TD. Could this be a mistake of some nature? If not give him a pass or two in the Tennessee game.

Thanks are in line for Suky's seeing to it that this pore lil ole sports editor got to the Vandy game—via the Special Suky Limited. Thanks, Don Stewart, we enjoyed the whole trip.

For you UK fans who would like to see Ray Correll get some national notice on at least one All-America squad, tune in Harry Wismer's evening sports show at 8:05 p.m. on the local Mutual Network station.

Now to the basketball scene. The squad has been working out this past week by scrimmaging the Andrews Air Force Base squad of Washington, D. C., at the Coliseum. What effect it may have on the competitive ability of the team during the season after a layoff of a year or better, may be explained by mentioning a few members of this service team.

First and foremost, there was Bobby Watson, diminutive guard who played four years of college ball under Coach Rupp and who is one of the fastest guards in the business. Then there was another Kentuckian, and well known we might add, C. M. Newton. Charlie played four years of baseball and was a sturdy reserve on the basketball team.

The rest of the squad includes Bill Stauffer, Helms All-America selection while playing at Missouri; Captain-Coach John Toomay who played his collegiate ball at the College of the Pacific and played professionally with the Washington Capitals, Baltimore Bullets and the Chicago Stags. Others on the squad are Ray Sonenberg, a familiar name to UK followers since he played with the St. Louis Billikens and was a constant thorn in the Wildcat's sides in those two one-point losses a couple of years ago; Fred Schlickman, Bradley; Bud Heinman, Missouri; and Duane Enoch, Washington U.

The Andrews bunch are considered to be the class of the service basketball teams.

Coach Rupp has recently been elected president of the Kentucky Hereford Breeders Association—and Suh—that's no Bull.

Bob Hardy, in kicking three extra points in the Vandy game, set a record for this year. The most previous points converted in one game this season was two, made in the Mississippi State and Florida contests. His total for the season is three.

We are anxious to satisfy the sports reading interests of all the students and are not, as have been accused, a junior size sports public relations office for the Athletic Association. If any of you have comments, criticism, or complimenting, we would appreciate hearing from you.

Spiked Shoe Sponsors Annual High School Run Tomorrow

UK's Spiked Shoe Society will stage its second annual Kentucky State High School Cross Country Run in Lexington Saturday with teams from all sections of Kentucky to compete.

Saturday's event will begin at 11 a.m. at the Picadome Golf course, it was announced Wednesday by Ray Jones of Louisville, student president of the Spiked Shoe Society.

According to Jones, the high school run will be preceded by an intercollegiate cross country meet involving the UK, Morehead State College and Berea College. Individual and high school team winners will be presented trophies and medals following the meet.

Last year's run was won by Flagg High school, Louisville, and a team from Flagg will run again in this year's meet. Individual winner in the run last year was Dave Collett of Valley High school, who is attending the University now and will run for UK Saturday.

Miss Margy Campbell, UK student from Fort Mitchell, has been chosen by the Spiked Shoe Society to reign over the meet as queen. Dr. Don Cash Seaton, head of the Department of Physical Education, is advisor for this organization.

High schools entered are Bellevue, Valley, Erlanger, St. Xavier, Breckinridge, Male, St. Joe, Fern Creek, Trimble County, U-High. A total of 48 men are entered.

WILDCATS OF THE WEEK
Ray CORRELL and Dick SHATTO
RAY PLAYED ANOTHER ALL-AMERICAN GAME AND DICK FINALLY FOUND HIMSELF ATOP LEAD THE CATS TO A 40-14 RUMP OVER AN OUTMANNED VANDY ELEVEN.

By DICK PURKINS

Kentucky's bowl-minded Wildcats easily breezed past Vanderbilt's battle-rattled Commodores Saturday afternoon at Nashville as 26,000 fans watched Ray Correll and Dick Shatto lead the rout.

Correll, the balding, blond from Somerset is an old hand at being named Player of the Week, this being the fourth occasion this season and third consecutive time. For Shatto, it is the first, and one of the most pleasing choices of the year.

Big Ray, who is no trouble to find on a gridiron, because he stands out like the proverbial sore thumb over every other lineman on the field, has received every compliment possible for a lineman to grab in the past several weeks, so any compliment that could be bestowed upon him here would merely be a repeat.

Actually Ray cannot be described; he's that type of player. Off the field he's a quiet, likeable, modest person, but on the battle field he'll knock the stuffings out of you.

Enhances Chance For All-SEC
Although Ray, as most of the other regulars, saw only limited duty Saturday, he showed Vandy scribes enough to enhance his chances for All-American and All-Southeastern honors.

In the first half he made most of Kentucky's tackles, rushed the passer, was down under punts, took three men out of one play with a block, and opened up the hole which Bob Hardy slid through for his second TD.

Ray's performance can be summed up in one word—Superb!

Shatto Much Improved

On the other hand Dick Shatto's performance against the Commodores was not his usual one this season, but an unexpected and pleasing one. It can be said in Dick's behalf that although his performances at the first of the Cat schedule was far from satisfactory, he didn't give up.

After being displaced by Bob Hardy as first string signal-caller, Dick stuck it out, playing mostly on defense. He continued to improve week by week, many times making saving tackles, until now he is one of Kentucky's better defensive backs.

For Shatto, this season has been a virtual repeat of last year. After beginning the '52 season as a regular quarterback, which Steve Meilinger took over, he finished as one of the first team halfbacks and was one of the Cats' leading ground gainers in the Tennessee tilt.

Averages 12.1 Yards Per Try

Should Dick, a 190-pound sophomore from Lima, Ohio, continue to impress as he did against Vandy, when he gained 97 yards on eight scampers (for 12.1 yards per carry) and caught one pass for 11 yards for a total of 108 yards, he could be a great deal of help to the Cat cause. Although he didn't score a counting TD (the scored one from the 14-yard stripe that was called back because of a Wildcat offense) he did set up two of the third period scores with some fancy leg work.

With the Tennessee contest drawing near, the big, blond, blaster appears to be the added insurance Cat coaches have been searching for.

With Shatto back in the stride, there is a remote possibility that Steve "Big Horse" Meilinger will be moved to end for the Vol battle. This is merely a rumor, however.

Quarterback Bob Hardy continued to impress sports writers with his fine handling of the split-T option play, carrying 10 times for 42 yards. He scored Kentucky's first three touchdowns and booted their initial three PATs.

Coach Bryant also singled out Ralph Paolone, who rambled 85 yards in 12 carries to improve slightly on his five yards per carry average; and reserves Ray Callahan and Hooker Phillips, who displayed promising running exhibitions.

SEC Roundup

Tech Still Tops SEC; UK In Tie For Third

By LARRY MEYER
Kernel Sports Editor

Georgia Tech continues in the top spot of the SEC race with approximately three weeks to go but it can't feel too secure since Mississippi is breathing down close on their heels.

Tech has two conference games left, Alabama and Georgia, while Mississippi has only one, that being the traditional game with cross-state Mississippi State. The Wreck can't afford to lose either one or Ole Miss will cinch the title.

UK Tied For Third

Three teams, Kentucky, Auburn and Alabama, are secure in a three-way tie for third place this week with only Auburn and Kentucky apparently safe for another week. A Tech win over Bama will send the Tide tumbling. Auburn has games left with Florida and Georgia on the schedule and looks safe in the top three, come the end of the season.

The Wildcats of Kentucky still have the big hump of the season to get over in the annual Tennessee game in two weeks. A win in that tussle could place the Cats in a tie for second or undisputed third place.

On the other end of the totem pole, Vanderbilt, 40-14 loser to Kentucky last week, will fight it out for the cellar with Tulane tomorrow afternoon. The Green Wave has been held to a ripple this year with no wins and five losses in conference play. The Commodores have lost four while winning none.

Ole Miss Meets Maryland

The top game on tap this week, is the big inter-sectional contest between Mississippi and Maryland on the latter's home field.

From all appearances, the Terrapins who were upset last year by this same club, should be able to win. A lopsided win would almost assure Kentucky or Auburn its spot in any of these bowls, provided the Cats can tame the Vols.

Yet a look at the Maryland schedule doesn't impress an observer with any strength. Missouri, Washington and Lee, Clemson, Georgia, North Carolina, Miami, South Carolina and George Washington have helped compose an undefeated record for the Ole Miss game.

The scores have been high, but the schedule has been light. These two points could help give the Ole Miss crew a win to stop another Terp win streak. We like Ole Miss in an upset.

Tech and Bama Clash

Tech takes on Alabama at Birmingham tomorrow and should continue toward its quest for the championship and a bowl. An upset could be in the making but we will string along with Tech.

Auburn and Georgia tangle at the Bulldog's home base. The "Brat" Bratkovski should begin to click one of these days and could be tomorrow. We pick Georgia to upset the Plainsmen in a squeaker.

Kentucky plays host to Memphis State and will, no doubt, win this warmer for the Tennessee clash by a top-heavy score.

Mississippi State and LSU clash. The Tigers took it on the chin last week, 32-14, at the hands of Tennessee while the Maroons topped Tulane, 21-0. LSU should win this one fairly easily—on comparative scores anyway.

Comeback UT Meets Gators

Tennessee's "SEC Team of the Week" should continue its rampaging ways when they take on the Gators of Florida in another conference tilt. The last game pits Vandy against Tulane in a battle of losers. We like Tulane to bring their potential power to the fore front again and drop the Commodores deeper in the cellar.

The conference standings:

YOU CAN'T GET A GIRL WITH A GULP

OR... How do you know when your best foot's forward?

Once there was a senior who was shy. (Look, this is a story, it permits certain liberties with the truth.) He'd call up a girl, stammer incoherently through the Preliminaries, gurgled helplessly through the Bicuspids, and hang up. Dateless. One day his room-mate took him in hand. "Herman, old buddy," he said, "...and unfolded a Plan.

Next day the Big Girl on Campus got a Telegram. A terse message. Simply: "Will pick you up at eight P.M. Friday. Regards, Herman H. Glockenspiel." She was Intuckered and waiting when Herman sheepishly up the steps of her Sorority house.

"Are you Herman H. Glockenspiel?" she cooed. "Ulp," said Herman. "Ooooh," she said, taking his arm, "I just love Original, Masterful Men." Herman was on his way.

Now Herman has more dates than the Syrian Desert. Still makes 'em all by Telegram. No fool, this Herman.

When you've got a Date in mind — Whether it's with the Campus Queen, a Smith Siren or a Big Moment Back Home—a Telegram has the Man-of-the-world Approach that pleases. Equally effective, too, for birthdays, Mother's Day and Easter Messages, congratulations, or vaps to Pop for Cash, or to Sis to Airmail you The Baggy Sweater. Just call Western Union and see.

Traffic Survey Indicates Parking Permit Increase

Results of a recent traffic survey indicate that a substantial increase could be made in the number of parking permits issued without overcrowding the 14 areas on the campus.

An additional 47 parking permits have already been issued this semester as the result of preliminary recommendations by a student-faculty committee appointed by Dean M. M. White, College of Arts and Sciences.

The traffic survey, conducted by committee members, shows some areas on the campus with 30 per cent of the parking spaces unoccupied at a given time.

Tabulations and observations were completed last spring on parking Areas 8 and 9, checked at various times of the day and ranging over a one-month period.

Unoccupied spaces in Area 9 totaled 15 per cent when observed at 10 a.m. and 23-1 per cent at 2 p.m. Area 9 is located by the Margaret I. King Library.

The vacant spaces in Area 8, McVey Hall, even surpassed other tabulations with 30 per cent unoccupied at 8:15 a.m., 16 per cent at 2:15 a.m., and 30 per cent at 1:15 p.m.

Parking permits issued for the 1953-54 school year total 776, as compared with the 729 issued last year. Areas in which the added permits were justified by the committee report include: 1 — Administration Building, 5 — Student Union, 6 — Home Economics Building, 8 — McVey Hall, 11 — Education Building, and 13 — Athletics area.

Chapel Appeal Delayed Dy UK, Tri Delt Protest

Action on the Christ Episcopal Church's appeal to the city zoning board of adjustment for permission to build a Canterbury Club chapel and student center on Rose Street was delayed until the next meeting following protests by the University and the Tri Delt Realty Company Tuesday.

The church asked permission to build within five feet of the property lines on the sides and to extend the proposed building to the rear property line. Zoning regulations specify 20-foot setbacks from side lines for church or club structures, but the board has the power to grant exceptions.

The lot on which the chapel would be built is situated between the Tri Delt and Alpha Delta Pi houses.

Gayle Mohny, attorney for the Tri Delt Realty Company, and W. L. Matthews Jr., professor of law and legal representative for the University, owner of the ADPI house, and for the ADPI House Corporation, lessee, objected to allowing the extra yardage. They claimed that it would decrease the value of adjacent property and constitute a fire hazard.

Dr. J. W. Kennedy, rector of Christ Church, said that the church plans to spend $100,000 on the proposed building. It would have one story in front and two in the rear. Howard Feldmann, chairman of the church's vestry committee on the Canterbury project, said this week that the chapel would be "a very definite boost to the campus."

"We are definitely not dropping the matter," he said.

Matthews said that there was "no objection to use of the property for the proposed building but to the violation of the zoning restrictions."

The Chi Omega's were not directly affected, he said, because their property, also belonging to the University, was over 200 feet away from the lot in question. This is the limit to the area of which owners may protest.

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women, commented that "it would be wonderful to have the student center on campus, but it would crowd the sorority houses a little that way."

The next meeting of the board will be held within 30 days, O. L. White, member of the board, stated.

Henry V. Pennington II and Mrs. Dianne McKeig Walden are the UK team members.
